

Matthews Bradley

Matt Bradley has a PhD in Biological Sciences from Stanford University and lives near Kalispell with his wife and daughter. He enjoys hiking, biking and skiing on the Foy's to Blacktail Trails and joined its board of directors in 2010. He serves on the Grants Committee and plans to help with biology-related education opportunities as the Foy's Community Forest program is implemented.