Cathy McDevitt joined the Foy's to Blacktail Board in 2008. Upon returning to Montana following retirement from her career as a public school teacher and administrator, she learned about the opportunity to preserve the land and trails she enjoyed using, and is doing her part.

Cathy was born and raised in the state of Iowa but fell in love with mountains and the beauty of the wilderness. After living nearly 30 years in Western Montana, she clearly wanted to retire here and live near her son and dear friends. Cathy is committed to volunteering in a number of arenas in her church and the community. She thoroughly enjoys the natural beauty of the area, the fine opportunities available in the arts, and giving to others. You will find her on the trails with her golden retriever, Annie.
